

BFI BURGENLAND

The vocational training institute BFI Burgenland belongs as a non-profit association to the largest private educational institution in Austria, the umbrella organization BFI Austria. Support organizations are the Chambers of Labour and the Austrian Trade Union Confederation.

As a professional educational institution, the BFI Burgenland aims to support people in their personal and professional development through high-quality and cost-effective educational programs. At the same time, the human being and his or her needs are placed in the center of action in interaction with the social environment and economic necessities.

The educational offer is aimed at individuals, businesses and public sector clients with a view to taking into account regional conditions and accompanying and promoting people of all ages on their individual educational path.

BFI Burgenland offers comprehensive education and training. Company and labor market training, apprenticeship training, academic qualifications as well as internationally recognized certificates are part of the wide range of services offered. The focus is on the acquisition of competences in order to be able to apply the knowledge in practice and to expand professional perspectives.

As a future-oriented educational institute, the BFI Burgenland uses its strengths:

- Innovative, adult-friendly teaching methods by highly qualified, committed teachers from business and practice
- Holistic and personal learning in a promotional learning environment
- modular education and training with the use of the latest technologies
- Continuous exchange with partner companies and experts from the field of education on the permanent process of reflection
- Application of quality management systems and international know-how transfer for further development

BFI Burgenland is involved in the development and implementation of numerous national and transnational projects either as leader or partner.

The continuous exchange with the project partners from business, science, research and education enables a permanent reflection process for further development. Critical tasks are used as opportunities to strengthen the educational awareness in a forward-looking manner and to promote quality standards in education and training. Projects serve an important educational and learning process, which promotes the advance of services in daily educational work. Across the borders of Burgenland, the educational mission is taken seriously in a constantly changing globalized world and projects are developed for the future.
